THIS WAS THE SCENE last Sunday morning after volunteer firemen extinguished a blaze at the residence of the Hall Perrys, 118 E. Laurel. The fire, which started in a back room used for storage, destroyed the room and a rear porch. The rest of the residence suffered extensive damage from water and smoke, and the shingle roof was badly charred. The fire call was sent in by a neighbor at 9:19 a.m. and the volunteers arrived at the fire about 9:25, according to Assistant Fire Chief Charles Brown. Chief Brown said the blaze was under control by about 10 o'clock, but that the firemen stayed at the scene until 11:30. He said the fire had "a good start" when the fire fighters arrived. Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined. Chief Brown reported. An investigation is continuing.

Husband, Wife Show Enamels at Library

By Howard Whalen

The Ames family, Arthur and Jean, are exhibiting their "enamels" this month in the "cases" of our Sierra Madre Library and have been attracting as much attention as the "Nineteen Outstanding Watercolorists" in the Gallery.

The term "enamel" in this case implies enamel on metal (usually copper). Powdered glasses or glazes are arranged on the copper form which in turn is placed in a preheated kiln for a short "fusing" period.

This process may be repeated several times on one piece in order to build up and overlay colors. All of the Ames works on display are enamels.

Arthur Ames combines an ability to paint and draw with a sure technical facility to come up with some beautifully decorative pieces. He has that deceptive ease of "delivery" which allows the viewer the full charge of expression without burdening him with the technique involved.

ARTHUR'S COLORS are crisp and vibrant and his deft drawing reveals a gentle humor which gives the subjects an immediate significance.

The jewel-like colors, bright and rich, take on an importance of their own, perhaps, because there is a quality in enamels found no place else in the arts or even in nature. Brilliant combinations of transparent, translucent and opaque colors in varying depths, actually three dimensional, are possible.

FOR ME, the plate with the blue face is the "gem" of the show. The painting of the face fits happily the contour of the plate. The piece is almost startling in its appeal, yet it has a quiet depth that suggests a long, long life.

There is just one of Jean Ames' enamels that I feel is up to her usual standard of performance. This is the large bird plaque. Here Mrs. Ames shows a free handling of glaze colors and imagination.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Friends of the Sierra Madre Library and will be on view through Nov. 30.

ON PANEL SHOW

Dr. Lee Glover, consultant on research and guidance from the county school system to Sierra Madre schools, will be one of a panel of three experts on "Marriage for Moderns" which started Nov. 6 on TV Channel 13. The show will be carried every Tuesday from 4:15 to 4:45.

'Salvation Army Week' Is Set

The Salvation Army will conduct its annual drive for funds in Sierra Madre during "Salvation Army Week," starting Dec. 3.

The appeal will be conducted here and throughout the area by volunteers.

W. S. Proudfoot Services Set Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. in Ripple Mortuary Chapel for William S. Proudfoot of 91 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., who died unexpectedly Nov. 19, 1956, in his home. He was 88.

A native of Edinburgh, Penn., Mr. Proudfoot came to California 15 years ago and moved to Sierra Madre a year later. He was an inventor and patent holder of looseleaf ledgers and notebooks.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Jennie Proudfoot; two daughters, Mrs. V. R. Jones of Riverside, Ill., and Mrs. Leona Birtwistle of Joliet, Ill.; a son, Bernard M. Proudfoot of Caledonia, Mich., and a stepson, Ira P. Nicole of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mr. Linder died Nov. 13, 1956, in Huntington Memorial Hospital after suffering a heart attack the day before. He was born April 9, 1896, in Adair County, Mo., and came to Southern California in 1919. He had been a resident of the San Gabriel Valley 22 years, at Mountain View Cemetery.

At the time of his death, he was president of the Trans-Marine Navigation Corporation which he had organized prior to World War II. He was active in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, a past-president of the Los Angeles Steamship Association, past-president of the Foreign Trade Association and past-president of the Propeller Club of Los Angeles Long Beach.

Mr. Linder is survived by his widow, Doris; a son, Max J. Linder; his mother, Olive Thomas, and two grandchildren, Diane and Stephen.

Girls and fathers attending were: Cathy and Corey Agra, Janice and John Aedesian, Dorothy Blood, Candy and Terry Chambers, Glen and Jerry Doan, Norman and Debby Dumas, Mary Leonardi, Celinda and Sam Massie, Joyce Nakama and Shoo Nomura, Susie and Ray Obazawa, Beverly and George Roane, Kathy and Sam Schwartz, Susie and James Smith, Linda Waggoner and Jim Shaw.

Resident Struck By Auto Here

A Sierra Madrean suffered apparent minor injuries when he was struck by a car in front of First Western Bank here last Friday about 6 p.m.

The victim, whose name was given as Frank J. Teneza, of 65 Oliver Ave., said he was struck in the crosswalk in front of the bank.

The driver of the car, whose name was listed by Sierra Madre police as Conrad Herrera of 439 E. Highland, told investigating officers he failed to see the victim until too late.

Mr. Teneza was taken to St. Luke Hospital for examination and later released.

Police action in the case, if any, will await a more complete investigation.

City Gets Warning On Rabies

Sierra Madre this week was warned by the county health department that the animal rabies situation in the county now is serious and that there is grave danger it will grow worse.

Dr. Roy O. Gilbert, county health officer, reported that 124 rabid animals have died from the disease so far this year, 88 in the county and 36 in Los Angeles.

None so far have been recorded in Sierra Madre, but local police pointed out that the danger is always present from wild animals in the surrounding mountains.

Dr. Gilbert issued a special plea that all animal bites be reported immediately to the nearest county health center. Compliance with the rabies vaccination program will not necessarily stop rabies immediately as the vaccination program is a long range one, he said, whereas the rabies problem and danger of human infection is with us now.

Failure to immediately report an animal bite could result in additional bites or infection by the offending animal, or in the loss of human life, Dr. Gilbert said. He also pointed out that under a state law anyone knowing of an animal bite is responsible for its being reported.

All animal bites should be reported to the Monrovia Health Center, 330 W. Maple Avenue, Monrovia. Elliott 9-2581. Complete information must be given as to the patient and the animal concerned. The animal will then be closely observed during the critical 15 days, as a protection to the person bitten.

It is also requested that pets be kept on leashes or inside a fenced yard at all times. Any animal suspected of having rabies or showing abnormal symptoms should be reported to the Los Angeles County Pound Department, TOPaz 2-5849.

INCOME CLIMBS

Total revenue from worldwide operations of Burroughs Corp. for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1956, reached the record level of $190,450,710—22 per cent higher than the $155,761,814 attained in the same period in 1955.

THESE TREES HAVE HAD IT—the "cure," that is. Their forlorn appearance is the result of the onslaught of a fungus which has afflicted many of the city's trees. To combat the fungus, city workers are trimming the affected fronds from the palms. The tree at left has been trimmed to within an inch of its life—literally. It has a slim chance to live. The pole at right used to be a tree. It's a goner, and will be removed soon. When workers trimmed it, the whole works fell off, leaving the spike you see here. Both trees are on Kersting Court, the one at left in front of Garland's Variety Store and the other in front of Sierra Madre Hardware.

FOOD FOR HUNGARY

Fifteen tons of the Multi-Purpose Food, developed a decade ago at the California Institute of Technology, will go to Hungary as a Thanksgiving gift of the American people, it was announced yesterday by Florence Rose, executive secretary of Los Angeles' non-profit Meals for Millions Foundation. This represents a quarter of a million meals.

Times Given For Film On Cancer

Times for showings of a documentary film on cancer in the Sierra Madre School auditorium were announced this week by sponsoring organizations.

The film, entitled, "46,000 Could Live," will be shown Nov. 27 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 29 at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Sponsoring organizations are the Phoebe's of Congregational Church, with Mrs. Milton Emerson in charge of volunteers; the Sierra Madre Civic Club, with Mrs. William R. Mulleavy in charge of volunteers, and the Sierra Madre PTA.

Handbills and posters will be distributed by Cub Scout Pack 381.

The film, sponsored by the American Cancer Society, is aimed at alerting residents to the early danger signals of cancer. A local doctor will be present at each showing to answer questions from the audience.

PRESBYTERY MEETS

Presbyterian ministers and laymen representing 168 Southland churches gathered Nov. 13 at First Presbyterian Church, Pomona, for the first meeting of the winter session of Presbytery of Los Angeles.

'Expanded Program' Is Cited as Reason

The City Council is expected tonight to take up a recommendation to establish a public works department to have jurisdiction over the streets, water and parks departments.

The head of the proposed department would supervise

The recommendation came to the Council from City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington, who said:

"The expanding work program in all areas in the city during the past years, coupled with projected plans for development of more park area and recreation facilities, indicates a need for better direction and co-ordination of the public works portion of the city's activities."

HE ALSO CITED the "need for positive planning and strong direction of the water development program of the city."

Mr. Bevington recommended that the position as head of the proposed department be advertised on an open basis, and that present city employees and outside applicants should have an equal chance for the post.

He also suggested that a wide salary range be authorized—from $450 to $600 monthly—with the actual salary to depend on experience and qualifications.

MR. BEVINGTON said the appointee will be directly responsible for the preliminary budget of the public works department.

He must have a working knowledge of: water utility production and distribution, water utility public relations, water utility construction, including pipelines and reservoirs; street construction and maintenance, planting and trimming of plants and trees, care of lawns and ground covers, care and cleaning of recreation facilities and general knowledge in areas such as elementary hydraulics and surveying and street drainage.

Volunteer auditors of the vote are William Bodley and Albert Paus, accountants.

Tennis Club to Hold Tourney Next Month

Two open tennis tournaments, for adults and juniors, will be played off at the Sierra Madre courts in City Park during December.

The adult tournament of the Sierra Madre Tennis Club will be held Dec. 2 at 10 a.m., finals to be held at about 2 p.m.

To provide sufficient time for team-drawing, the deadline for entry in the tournament is 8 p.m. Nov. 29. Entry fee for club members is 75 cents, for non-members, $1.50. For entry, players should contact Peter Cowell, chairman, at ELgin 5-2754, or Club Secretary Jim Holt at ELgin 5-6838. Refreshments will be served to participants, club members and their friends.

Co-operating with Mrs. Paul Landwehr and the Sierra Madre Recreation Commission, the Tennis Club announced a Junior Tennis Tournament for Dec. 15. This tournament will culminate the weekly instruction periods during the summer and fall by Mrs. Landwehr for the Recreation Commission. The Tennis Club will provide cup trophies and medals for prizes to the winners and runners-up. If enough entries are made, there will be three age groups for boys and girls—11 years old and under, 13 and under, 15 and under.

Services will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Ripple Mortuary Chapel by the Rev. Orlan G. Burlison. Interment will be in Live Oak Memorial Park, Monrovia.

Mr. Clark, a native of Woodruff, Kan., was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Four Square Gospel Church in Pasadena. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Ethel Mae Young; five sisters, Mrs. Alta Miller of Sierra Madre, Mrs. Ruth Eckwall of Holdrege, Neb., Mrs. Lucile Hinkel, Mrs. Iva Smith and Mrs. Chloe Willy, all of Colorado, and five brothers, Earl and Walter of Holdrege, Neb., and Lawrence, Lloyd and Ira, all of Colorado.

The Tennis Club will have its second annual Christmas Party on the evening of Dec. 8 at 8:30.

E. C. Clark Dies; Rites Tomorrow

Elmer Clark Young of 335 N. Auburn Ave., a resident of Sierra Madre for 11 years, died Nov. 16, 1956 in his home. He was 69.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. in Ripple Mortuary Chapel by the Rev. Orlan G. Burlison. Interment will be in Live Oak Memorial Park, Monrovia.

Mr. Clark, a native of Woodruff, Kan., was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Four Square Gospel Church in Pasadena.

THESE ARRANGEMENTS IN "WOODS AND WEEDS" were done by Mrs. John E. Conzelman, formerly of Sierra Madre, and starting today will form the window display at the Wistaria Flower Shop, 27 N. Baldwin. The Conzelmans moved some months ago to Yucca Valley for Mr. Conzelman's health. As a hobby, Mrs. Conzelman last September started mounting arrangements of manzanita and other woods picked up in the desert. Since then it has become a family affair. The Conzelmans work in a large workshop near their home and the whole family pitches in—including husband John and daughter Gretchen. Mrs. Conzelman, who now has outlets in Hollywood and other area cities besides Sierra Madre, recently received an order for 50 table pieces from Disneyland Hotel, and the mounting demand led the family to form a company—"Woods and Weeds."

Refugees Need Help

Winter has already come to some parts of the world where refugees, war widows and orphans need American help if they are not to suffer severely from the cold outdoors and their unheated houses.

The American Friends Service Committee is appealing to Southern Californians to share warm clothing, in good condition, with 300,000 men, women and children in Japan, Korea, and European countries. This many people will be helped if the Service Committee makes its 1956-57 goal of 200,000 pounds of material aid.

The largest AFSC shipment of clothing to any one country will be 90,000 pounds, to Japan. War widows, victims of economic pressures, and orphans need bedding as well as all items of personal clothing. A shipment of 12,000 pounds of clothing and other material aid left for Japan just a few weeks ago.

Contributions of good used or new clothing may be sent to the American Friends Service Committee, Material Aids Workroom, 110 N. Hudson Ave., Pasadena. Arrangement for pick-ups in the Pasadena and Los Angeles area may be made by calling RYan 1-7651. There is a year-round continuing need for clothing gifts.

Volunteers are also needed in the Pasadena workroom to sort and pack clothing.

More than 70 per cent of the material aids sent abroad by the Service Committee come from individuals or groups. Manufacturers and business firms have also contributed such important items as textiles, vitamins, paint for community centers in Italy and toilet paper for a hospital in Korea.

Around and About
With Edward Lloyd Voorhees

Because my host in Rome had been in the diplomatic-military service for a quarter-century, first under the Monarchy and now in the Cabinet of President Gronchi, I was privileged to glimpse something of the family and social life of the capital, both of the official and fashionable sets.

My friend's family of five occupied a roomy apartment which had been used for the guests of the Queen in the Quirinal, the one-time official residence in Rome, and now that of the President and some of his staff.

Still furnished in its regal but restrained style, elegant rather than lavish, the apartment gave a hilltop view over the center of the city to the dome of St. Peters.

As the daily table-guest of General X and his family, my brisk 15-minute walk twice daily by various routes from my hotel to the Palace was each time something of an exercise in stride-by-stride jig-saw puzzle. For between the few main thoroughfares of Rome the narrower always crowded streets meander like game trails in a forest of honking traffic and tall buildings, where streets become alleys and alleys bulge into streets, and nearly every crossing offers a choice from three to five radiations from where you stand.

THUS EVERY WALK in Rome is an adventure which, added to my partiality for that form of locomotion wherever I am living at the moment, made me content to stay off Rome's fine and rapid autobuses which are at all times jam-packed with standees. Moreover, by walking I learned certain shortcuts to my destinations by day or night which were useful during storms or when time was of the essence.

After my first few visits to the Palace, the red-and-black uniformed sentry at the big double gate no longer challenged me, and the small group of uniformed and plainclothed Palace guards in the guardroom would contribute one of their number to escort me along the great corridors to the automatic elevator which served the general's apartment on the floor above.

If I were early for dinner, or earlier still for tea, the huge oak door would be opened to my ring either by the smiling motherly cook or the bashful young soldier in uniform who was cook's helper, house porter and waiter at table. Whichever of the two appeared would be accompanied by Tabout, the family pet, a small Scottish terrier who always wiggled a welcome.

FIRST I WOULD enjoy the lively questions and conversation of Grandmother; then gradually would appear, serenely, the attractive young lady daughter, perhaps from a chaperoned matinee; her clever and amiable brother, just turned voting age, from his law office; the gay, sparkling mother, from a tea at one of the legations, a charity meeting or a courtesy call; and finally, the general, tall, distinguished, and smiling, from his office near the president's in another part of the immense series of wings which radiate from the vast interior courtyards and gardens of the Quirinal.

All would gather around the stirred-up fire on the hearth to enjoy its welcome heat while drinking an aperitif, for even a palace in Rome may be without central heating. However, we could always count on a cozy warmth in the big dining room, which was not more than 30 feet down the corridor from the kitchen, whence piped gas from the cooking range heated its benign surplus heat to heighten the good cheer around the family table. There both Italian and English were amusingly mingled, interchanged, translated and explained to narrate the events of the day and express any idea or comment inspired by the evening reunion of a happy and affectionate family with a keen appetite for the good hot dinner, and in no hurry to go anywhere else!

It's Your America

FREEDOM MARTYR

TELLAH P. LOVEJOY OF ALTON, ILLINOIS, GAVE HIS LIFE DEFENDING HIS RIGHT TO SPEAK AND TO PUBLISH HIS IDEAS OF SLAVERY.

Four nights before his martyr's death November 3, 1857, Lovejoy said: "IF THE CIVIL AUTHORITIES REFUSE TO PROTECT ME, I MUST LOOK TO GOD; AND IF I DIE, I HAVE DETERMINED TO MAKE MY GRAVE IN ALTON. I HAVE SWORN ETERNAL OPPPOSITION TO SLAVERY—I CAN DIE AT MY POST, BUT I CANNOT DESERT IT."

"Old Central High School," I said. "Did you study English under Sophie Rosenberger?" he asked, still holding my hand.

"Yes. Most inspiring teacher I ever knew."

"More than that. She's a great woman. Here's a letter I got from her yesterday."

At those years he had kept touch with the teacher who had first inspired him. "You're a better man than I am, Alex Woolcott," I said.

Persons who didn't like that President declared he was trampling sacred tradition under foot and heaped abuse on him. This year the President did the same, and many of those same persons beamingly say it was the right thing to do, will make Christmas busying start a week earlier and, all in all, is wholly admirable.

WE PRODUCE very few real personalities nowadays. Nine-tenths of us try to fit ourselves into the approved molds, in dress, manners and a sophistication. Indeed, many of us shock ourselves if we are not complete conformists. I got a kick out of a "biography in sound" on KFI last week, a full hour in which many famous persons paid tribute to Alexander Woolcott.

It was almost thrilling to realize that a man who was chiefly noted as a literary critic, with no really great achievement to his credit, made such an impression by habitually being himself that 13 years after his death a national broadcast devoted a full hour to his story. I would like to add my two cents worth, with a sidelight on a California murder.

My wife and I were going to that dinner, which called for a dinner jacket. Traveling by bus, I had to get home from Beverly Hills, change clothes and get back to the Roosevelt by 7. So at 4 I arose to say goodbye. But Woolcott seized me by the coat lapels and demanded:

"What do you think of David Lamson?"

"I don't know. I never read murder trials."

"Every citizen of California should read that one. A terrible crime is threatened. An innocent man may be condemned to death. No one who can write as he does can possibly be guilty."

"Frankly, I never met him him and know nothing about him."

"I never met him either, but I'm going to San Jose tomorrow to meet him. And I'm going to get him freed."

Back in New York Woolcott had felt a great injustice in being done a stranger in California. He had studied the evidence, had begun fighting for Lamson and had come west at his own expense to help him. I have always believed he saved Lamson's life.

That was Woolcott, the individualist, the unique personality. I wish we had more like him.

I doubt that he remembered me, but he urged: "Sure. Come on out." When I got there he demanded, while we were still shaking hands: "Where did you go to school in Kansas City?"

All would gather around the stirred-up fire on the hearth to enjoy its welcome heat while drinking an aperitif, for even a palace in Rome may be without central heating. However, we could always count on a cozy warmth in the big dining room, which was not more than 30 feet down the corridor from the kitchen, whence piped gas from the cooking range heated its benign surplus heat to heighten the good cheer around the family table. ## Around Washington

By Edgar W. Hiestand
Rep. 21st District

Sports fans have written me wondering why Congress doesn't "do something" to provide funds for athletes going to the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, Australia.

They point out that Russia's professionals made our amateurs look sick last winter in Italy, and suggest that as long as the Russians are using their victories for propaganda purposes, why doesn't Uncle Sam bolster his team with a few government dollars?

Some even urge that we use our pros—our first team—and scrap the whole idea of amateur competition in the international games. The Amateur Athletic Union's barring of our top miler, Wes Santee, adds fuel to their argument.

Maybe I'm old-fashioned, but I'm still not convinced that two wrongs make a right.

I'm not convinced that our amateurs are so weak, so inexperienced and so ill-trained that they can't beat the Russian pros decisively. I'm not ready to throw in the towel before the match gets underway. I think we can win—with amateurs—and show up the Russians before the whole world for the punk sports they are.

"IT'S NO SECRET that the Russians subsidize everything from steel production to Olympic athletes. And it's to America's credit that our government does just the opposite; that we shy away from state controls wherever possible.

That's just one of the many reasons why a republic is superior to a totalitarian state.

If Uncle Sam were to pick up the tab for these Olympic jaunts, why shouldn't he subsidize every other type of athletic contest? Why not start building Olympic athletes in grade school as the Russians obviously do? The government would have to take over the schools, of course, to make sure that the athletes got proper training. And as long as it was running the schools, why not take over the industries, the transportation lines and communication media? Why not play the Russian game all the way?

WE'VE BEEN ENTERING the Olympics for half a century, always on an amateur basis, and the unofficial standings always have shown heavily in our favor. Should we minimize these past triumphs just because somebody's ready to offer us some competition?

Granted that the AAU is having trouble raising money for the trip. People should be encouraged to give—freely. But if the government stepped in with taxpayers' money, government men would have to accompany the team to make sure the money was spent properly. What's to stop them from taking over as coaches and trainers?

There'll probably be some fights on Capitol Hill before the Olympic subsidization issue is settled. Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) is proposing a bill which would allocate part of the 10 per cent federal admissions tax for Olympic trips and to build athletic stadia to increase competition. Rep. Robert MacDonald (D-Mass.) has proposed legislation to finance expenses for men and women who would make up the U.S. team bound for Australia.

BUT THERE'S no guarantee in either proposal to produce a 4-minute miler, a 16-foot pole vaulter or a 9-second dash man. There's no guarantee to produce another Jesse Owens, who won five events in one day at the 1936 Olympics and showed up Adolf Hitler for the fool that he was.

To use government funds in the Olympics would mean scuttling the entire amateur athletic program in America. We'd be setting government policy that a nation's superiority over another nation rests solely upon its athletic prowess.

Our army didn't fall apart several years ago when West Point lost a few football games after suspending its stars during the cribbing scandal. Our federal government hasn't collapsed because the Washington Senators haven't won a pennant since 1933.

I don't believe in renegeing on the coaches who've been telling American kids for generations that, "It matters not who won or lost, but how you played the game." I'm against telling them instead that if they show athletic promise, they might make the federal payroll.

• Letters to the Editor Column •

To the Editor:

I was the first chairman of the Exhibits Committee of Friends of the Library at the time that its policy was determined. That policy can, of course, be undetermined by future committees.

As a group of artists and laymen, we gave serious thought and discussion to three points:

1. The City Hall Gallery is, and has been for 27 years, hanging works of local painters. The exhibits are well-hung, well-attended. The current exhibit which opened last week shows work of 18 painters.

Some even urge that we use our pros—their first team—and scrap the whole idea of amateur competition in the international games. The Amateur Athletic Union's barring of our top miler, Wes Santee, adds fuel to their argument.

May I add that we have not tried and, in the main, succeeded in bringing to the Library Gallery the canvases of painters who are nationally as well as regionally known as fine professional artists. Need I list their awards at the Metropolitan, the Corcoran? The Guggenheim Fellowships and the Tiffany Awards?

Two years of enthusiastic attendance at the exhibits has been a reward to the whole community. So, too, the praise given the gallery by out-of-towners and neighboring communities. Two San Gabriel Valley towns have written our committee to ask how they can bring such exhibitions to their areas.

It is, after all, the quality of painting we are concerned with. I cannot believe any artist, local or otherwise, would advise us to choose, not the best, but the nearest.

Sincerely,

MRS. MARJORIE PARKER.

P.S. Mrs. Meyer must know that her membership in Friends of the Library does not pay for the Purchase Prize. For the second year our interested merchants and residents have subscribed the prize fund.

And fie! Mrs. Meyer, for picking up the cudgel and then moving to Newport Beach where we can't have at you!

With the ghastly picture of events in Hungary today before us, how can anyone who is still free fail to think of our Veterans, both living and dead, on the day set aside in their honor?

But apparently Sierra Madre forgot. Perhaps everyone should re-read—and ponder—that tremendous poem, Kipling's "Recessional," with the refrain:

"Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget!"

How prejudice unconsciously influences our ideas! Twenty years or so ago the President proclaimed that Nov. 22, instead of the last Thursday in November, should be Thanksgiving Day—and indignation swept the land.

This year the President did the same, and many of those same persons beamingly say it was the right thing to do, will make Christmas busying start a week earlier and, all in all, is wholly admirable.

Philharmonic Group Holds Dinner Before First Concert

Gathered at the Terrace Room of the Huntington-Sheraton Hotel, the members of the Pasadena Philharmonic Committee entertained civic, educational and community leaders at a dinner before the opening of the first Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra concert on last Wednesday. Known as "Pasadena Night," this dinner has become a traditional affair.

Sitting down promptly at 7 o'clock, musically-minded Pasadenaans arrived at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium well before Conductor Bruno Walter raised his baton for the opening number of the concert.

Members of the Hospitality Committee who helped Mrs. C. Bernard Cooper, chairman, with reservations and, together with their husbands, greeted the guests were: Mesdames William E. Taverner, Martin Scott, Lawrence Brooks, Sidney L. Johnson, Edward S. Thompson, Marc Len, and Marcus Beeks.

Taking place simultaneously, but in a different location, was the Buffet Supper given by the Junior Concert Goers. Judy Pickering of San Marino High School, president of the Junior Concert Goers, and Lynore Gause of Mayfield School, vice-president, were assisted in arranging the pre-concert supper at the home of Mrs. Zona Washburn, 850 Holladay Road, Pasadena, by other youthful officers of the group.

Adult advisors assisting the girls were Mrs. Melvin Morse, their sponsor, and Mrs. Reaford Haney, Mrs. Stender Sweeney, Mrs. Pickering, Mrs. Barton Jones and Mrs. Kenneth Rhodes.

Colin Barracough, assistant manager of the Southern California Symphony Association, gave the girls an informative talk about the history of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, and an evaluation of its musical position in our community.

Club Makes Awards to Speakers

Speaking on the "Toastmasters' Toastmaster," Winfield Hartranft won the Best Speakers Trophy last week at the Sierra Madre Toastmasters Club.

In his talk, Mr. Hartranft created a montage of an ideal toastmaster from among the strong features and attributes of each club member. Most Improved Speaker Trophy was awarded to Robert Eastman.

Dr. Frank Page, in his speech entitled "Nightmare," gave the audience an "eye-witness account" of an atom bomb attack on the Los Angeles area. Other speakers included George Mannschreck and Draper Phillips.

Toastmaster of the evening was club humorist Wendell Booth. Robert J. Milo and his panel of critics evaluated each speech for effectiveness, delivery and organization.

The Middle East crisis was the theme of extemporaneous table topics conducted by John Meursinge. This part of the meeting fell into a hot debate with rebuttals and counter-rebuttals by all members of the club.

Guest Ross Morgan was voted best speaker on table topics.

Next meeting of the Sierra Madre Toastmasters Club will be Nov. 28 at 7 p.m. at the Rancho Hillcrest Restaurant. Club President John B. DuBois announced that interested individuals are welcome as guests and may contact him for information.

Social and Club Activities

MRS. ROBERT SMITH, MRS. G. H. TERWILLIGER, DALE GRACE AND MRS. STEWART GRACE

Four generations will be represented when Mrs. G. H. Terwilliger of Pasadena is honored next Saturday at an "Open House" in the Downey home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Robert Smith, 198 N. Lima, to celebrate her 90th birthday.

Mrs. Terwilliger was born in 1866 in Newton, Ia. When she was 4 her family took up a homestead in Seward, Ia. Her memories include fighting prairie fires, crops eaten by grasshoppers to the extent that not a spear of green was left showing, and the coming of Indians.

Another granddaughter, Mrs. Carlton Crystal of Vacaville, Calif., will assist her mother at the party.

Mrs. Grace and Mrs. Crystal are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 198 N. Lima, and were born and grew up in Sierra Madre, attending the local elementary school, Wilson Junior High School and Pasadena City College. Mrs. Crystal currently is counselor and teacher of algebra in the school at Fairfield, Calif.

Guests will be received by the four generations—Mrs. Terwilliger, her daughter, Mrs. Smith, her two daughters, Mrs. Grace and Mrs. Crystal, and grandson Dale Grace.

The usual social hour was omitted to allow time to discuss plans for a Christmas party and holiday projects.

Members brought gifts suitable for veterans which will be mailed to the Marine Hospital in San Francisco. This veterans' program is one of the many philanthropies of the Santa Anita Chapter.

Mrs. Wendell J. Mercer, vice-regent of the Santa Anita Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, entertained members in her Rosemead home last Thursday evening.

The group voted $70 for Christmas welfare work among veterans' children and orphans, $10 for Christmas rehabilitation work and $5 for the City of Hope.

Mrs. Ethel Stein was welcomed as a new member and guests for the evening were Mrs. Oscar Willumson of Santa Barbara, Mrs. Ben Medley of Glendale and Mrs. R. Martell of San Marino.

NSAL Chapter to Present Drama Program Today

The yearly drama program of the Pasadena Chapter, National Society of Arts and Letters, will be presented this afternoon at 1 p.m. in the lecture room of the Walnut Street Main Library.

Mrs. Luna Osborn, program chairman, will introduce Maxine Aupperle, dramatic interpreter of historic subjects who, dressed in costume, will speak on "The Romance of the Fan," illustrated by examples from her remarkable collection of these exotic objects.

Lilios Gilbert, well known concert singer from Pasadena, will also be in costume when she presents her Spanish songs. She is often called to the motion picture studio to make recordings for such musicals as "Carousel," "Oklahoma," and "The King and I." She currently is singing at the Jewish Temple in Westwood.

Members will bring guests and anyone interested in the program is invited to attend.

FIRE FLAMES

By James Headley

Because it has been a form of interest to listen intently to the method of introduction used by chairmen, I have learned that there are few of genuine originality.

Most use the words "great honor and privilege to introduce you, etc." I often wonder why some guy doesn't get up and say, "Fellows, here is John Doe, let's listen to what he has to say."

Why waste so much valuable time with this familiar introduction: "Ladies and Gentlemen, Mister Chairman, General Manager, Honorable Mayor, Chairman of the Human Society, Mr. Sewer Manager, etc., etc., the next speaker needs no introduction. We are all of us too familiar with his name and his great deeds. He comes to us this evening to talk about his great work in a cause with which we are all only too familiar.

"I am sure that I speak the thought that is in all our hearts when I say that I feel—er—that it is a very great honor to have so distinguished a guest and speaker with us here this evening and that—er—his subject will be one very close to the hearts of all of us who are so greatly interested in the progression of humane enterprise. So—er—without further introductions, ladies, gentlemen, etc., etc., it is my great honor and privilege to—er—introduce to you at this time Mr.—er—(leans over to ask the speaker his name) Mr. Parker Whoosis, who has done us the great honor to come here tonight to speak on—er—(leans over to ask the speaker what he is going to speak about) who is going to speak this evening on—er—"Civic Pride!"

Yes sir and yes mam, I seriously wish that clubs and organizations would learn to stop wasting valuable time with the same old worn out custom of introductions. Amen.

THERE IS ONE THING
firemen's meeting in Sierra Madre, they won't stand for certain about attending a lot of unnecessary fool-darol. We have too much to do, but little time to accomplish it. One of the reasons for our average of 99 per cent attendance is mostly due to getting the business over with and having a good time to follow. That's it!

What Others Believe . . .*The Congregational Church: 'Emphasis on the Individual'

(From time to time, as space permits, there will appear on this page an explanation of the beliefs and aims of the religions represented in Sierra Madre. The News offers this series in the belief that tolerance, for want of a better word, comes only through understanding. The first article in the series appears below.)

By Rev. George W. Lindsay

The Congregational Churches—the "Church of the Pilgrims"—began in 17th Century England, when small groups of people, mostly of the humble classes, began meeting together to worship God as their consciences led them.

Forced by persecution to flee to Holland, they later migrated to the "stern and rock-bound" coast of New England. The Congregational Church in America began on the day the Pilgrim Fathers landed in New England.

In that first group were William Bradford, John Carver, Miles Standish, William Brewster and others whose names stud the pages of our history books. The Pilgrims left the Old World and came to the New in order that they might be free men, worshiping God according to their own consciences.

Out of their search, which resulted in the independent local church, grew much of the spirit, and many of the techniques, of our democratic heritage.

While the Congregational Church claims no monopoly in teaching these ideals, it does cherish the strong emphasis that it has always placed upon such teachings.

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES ARE "FREE" churches; both in their theology and in their form of organization. The basis of faith for Congregationalists is God's revelation of Himself in the Bible; but each individual is free in, and responsible for, his own interpretation of that revelation.

Congregationalists believe in this kind of individual freedom because they feel that the spirit of God dwells in each man and, if rightly followed, will lead him to the truth. Therefore, while Congregationalists may consult with one another and share their several convictions, none, be he minister or layman, is entitled to impose his own interpretation on others.

Each individual is free to interpret God's word within the framework of the Christian revelation so that there may be and often are wide differences of opinion within the fellowship of any one church.

EACH LOCAL CHURCH is likewise "free" in the government of its own affairs. It calls its own minister—and dismisses him if need be; it owns and controls its own property; it raises and disperses its own budget. No outside ecclesiastical authority has jurisdiction over the local church.

Decisions on all matters of policy are made by majority vote of the total congregation, after waiting upon God's guidance. At the same time, local churches are linked together in associations and conferences for carrying out common concerns in Christian education, missionary work, establishment of new churches, and witnessing to the Gospel of Christ in areas of social and political tension.

Believing as they do in the responsibility of each individual member to understand and interpret the faith, Congregationalists have always been "educational-minded."

FROM THE BEGINNING, they have founded schools, colleges and seminaries in large numbers. Yale, Harvard, Oberlin and Pomona are among the colleges founded by Congregationalists—the first three specifically for the training of Congregational ministers.

At the local level, each church takes its responsibility for the training of children and youth most seriously, and church schools and youth organizations are important parts of the church structure. For 7th and 8th graders, in addition to the church school classes, our local Congregational Church sponsors the "Pioneer Fellowship." For the 9th through the 12th grades, the church has the "Pilgrim Fellowship."

Danger of Gas Poisoning Is at Its Peak Right Now

By Roy O. Gilbert, M.D.
Los Angeles County Health Officer

With the coming of chilly weather, cases of carbon monoxide gas poisoning that are caused by unvented gas heaters or improperly ventilated dwellings will probably increase in occurrence. Strict attention should therefore household appliances.

Gas poisoning gives no warning and frequently occurs while the individual is sleeping. Since it is tasteless and generally odorless, the victim is usually not alerted to the danger and simply fails to awaken or, in some cases, is overcome before he can help himself.

Although unvented heaters are most often the cause of such fatalities, they occasionally occur in the case of vented heaters when the vent is not functioning properly or is not vented to the outdoors.

DURING THE LAST three winter seasons, 14 accidental deaths due to carbon monoxide gas poisoning from gas heaters occurred within the jurisdiction of the County Health Department. Only two of these deaths happened in a motel or trailer; the remainder occurred in dwellings.

In less severe cases of this type of poisoning, the individual may become aware of the existing hazard by a feeling of grogginess, a severe headache, or abdominal cramps.

Whether fatal or no, all cases of gas poisoning that are caused by improperly operating gas heaters are unnecessary. Gas appliances can easily be checked for safe burning characteristics before use.

This service may be obtained from the various gas companies or from a local gas appliance store. It is especially important to have this examination made if the heater happens to be secondhand or has been in storage for the summer months.

AT THIS SAME TIME any existing vents can be checked for blockage or leakage, and a check also made to ascertain whether or not the heater is vented to the outside and not to another room or the attic.

The Sierra Madre Community Nursery School Association presents its second annual Christmas Shoppers Night from 2 to 10 o'clock Nov. 30 at the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, 270 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

The mothers and fathers in the association are busy completing homemade articles such as children's skirts, shirts, jumpers, bathrobes, aprons, baby quilts, Christmas decorations, dolls' toy stoves, dressing tables, rocking horses, trains, etc. Some of the larger items will be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Besides the selection of homemade articles there will be booths selling children's books by age groups from Vroman's Book Store, toys within a price range of 50 cents to $5 from Shugert's of Arcadia, records from the Arcadia Music Mart, jewelry by a well known Glendale designer, pottery from a pottery supply house, and surprise 10-cent gifts for the children to pick off a Christmas tree.

Doughnuts and coffee will be served throughout the afternoon and evening and at 5:30 p.m. hot pizza rolls, salad, beans and ice cream will be served to adults for $1 and to children for 75 cents.

Highlight of the evening will be the drawing of the winning raffle tickets. The two prizes will be an overnight trip to Las Vegas for two, and a day at Disneyland for a family of five, including 10 rides each and dinner on the grounds.

Plans for the Shoppers Night are in the hands of the Ways and Means chairman, Joan Tyree, and her many committee chairmen: Betty Vensel, dinner chairman; Joan Boldemann, raffle tickets; Helen Diddy, publicity; Helen Diddy, decorations; Carl and Hanna Shafer, book selection; Don and Pat McAdam, Christmas card orders; Carol Thorpe, record booth; Ola Smith, toys; Dorothy Danielson, pottery; Velma Bass, jewelry, and Jim Tattersall, auctioneer.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for construction of new play equipment and maintenance of the school building, originally built by mothers and fathers eight years ago on city property.

ON THE TRAILS—By Bill Wark

For countless centuries, a mountain just a few miles west of Sierra Madre has held its head high in the California skies, looking down upon the San Gabriel Valley at its feet and out to the glittering sea, an unknown and seldom visited peak.

Little did the early settlers know that this mountain was destined to attract the attention of all the world, and contribute more than any other internationally advertised feature to the tremendous growth of Los Angeles and Southern California.

The first attention of any note received by this lofty peak was in 1887, for this is the one which Owen and Jason Brown first chose to erect their monument, raise the Stars and Stripes and leave a written record, proclaiming it to be John Brown Peak, the first of its three names. When they moved their interest to a peak farther west, which now bears their father's name, the deserted peak acquired the plain name of Oak Mountain.

The next activity observed by this peak was the construction of a little log cabin just below the summit in a beautiful forested glen, near a fine big spring of delicious water (Crystal Spring).

First used by hunters, this cabin later sheltered the trail crews which built the miles of trails that radiate through our mountains from this spot, and there are people today who will remember this little cabin, its wall covered with the cards of the travelers who came from all over the world.

The sun shone brightly on Oak Mountain Sept. 24, 1892, her greatest day, for this is the day that Prof. Thaddeus S. Lowe led a party of admirers to the summit and told them of his plan to build the last of his four mountain hotels there. Oak Mountain was renamed in his honor and became Mt. Lowe—a lasting name and one whose fame encircled the globe, all due to an engineer's dream.

ENGINEER D. J. McPherson had a burning desire to see his dream come true, to construct a trail of steel in powered by electricity that would carry the people of the valley into the deep canyons and up to the peaks of the San Gabriels.

Many were the people he told of his plan. They were enthusiastic with the idea, but not so impressed that they were willing to back it financially. Just as he was reaching despair, he was told that perhaps he should contact a recent arrival to Pasadena, a man of wealth, Prof. Lowe. The latter had acquired much fame as an

VILLA VIEWS

By Toni Maurin
Siemore 7-9634

Once more the time of year has come when we pause and give thanks for all things that have come to us. Although our lives are much more complicated than those of our forefathers, I wonder if we don't give thanks for much of the same things that they did so many, many years ago. Survival in an ever unrestful world, our health and our families. Food on our tables, and most of all a belief that there is something greater than ourselves, and always a better and fuller life just ahead if we care to seek it. For these things we give our thanks.

GEORGE AMTHOR, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Amthor of 3306 Barbrite, celebrated his ninth birthday last Saturday with a cowboy movie party and luncheon. Among the guests were Steven Germain, Jay Beckett, Donald Smuck, Paul Maurin and Gene Terrill.

THIRTY-TWO PEOPLE of the Senior Group of the Sierra Madre Community Nursery School gathered at the W. H. Dunning home at 3323 Barbrite last Saturday evenings for a highly successful steak dinner.

RATE BID RAISED

In a preliminary hearing before the California Public Utilities Commission in Los Angeles, Southern Counties Gas Co. spokesmen indicated the company would ask permission to raise rates higher than originally requested in its June 29 application, citing a need for greatly expanded facilities in a period of "tight money." The total amount asked would add an average of 60 cents a month to the bill of the company's typical residential customer here, a spokesman said.

When It Comes to Mayhem It's Rugby Every Time

By Charles Ayres

What with all the yakking we've heard in recent times about the pay rates received by boys engaged in weekly head-knockings, a guy would be justified in believing that nobody nowadays is interested in any type of competitive physical activity just for kicks.

I'm happy to report that all is not lost, because there is a group of hardy souls in Southern California who get together in late winter and spring and have at each other for the sheer joy of it. They lock themselves together with their arms and engage the back rows by squeezing heads between hips.

THIS FORMS a tightly-woven mass of bone and muscle and then the fun begins. The ball is thrown between the front lines and there is a mad scramble as the sides attempt to shove or otherwise remove the opponents from the scene while in the meantime feet are flying trying to kick the ball back to their side so an offensive can begin.

Some wise but less hardy souls have resorted to using shin guards for obvious reasons while others wear bands in hopes of keeping their ears intact.

The lineout is comparable to bringing the ball in bounds in basketball except the sides line up opposite each other and the ball is thrown in between them for a minimum of 5 yards before recovery, shoving and kicking can commence.

When a ball carrier is tackled he must release the ball immediately. Failing to do so, his well-being is placed in jeopardy and the other players are entitled to remove it from his possession in any manner they deem expedient, which leaves nothing to the imagination.

AMAZING ENOUGH there are much fewer injuries in rugby than in football. Clad only in short pants, shirts, knee-length stockings and cleated shoes, the players depend on speed, maneuverability, and their knowledge of tactics instead of brute strength.

New LaSalle High School Formally Dedicated Here

The new LaSalle High School at Michillinda and Sierra Madre Blvd. was dedicated Nov 10 in ceremonies at the school. Bishop Alden J. Bell gave the blessing.

Guest speaker at the recently completed school was Father James Clyne, assistant superintendent of the Catholic Archdiocesan schools. Benediction services were sung by the students.

The school opened Sept. 11 with 117 ninth-grade students—15 of whom are from Sierra Madre, 34 from Pasadena and 23 from Arcadia. The remainder come from surrounding communities and L.A. The school will accommodate 350 students.

The school is conducted by the Christian Brothers, who staff 11 schools in California. One of the oldest religious orders in the U.S., it was founded in 1860 by St. John Baptist de La Salle, a French priest. Also, is it the order which produces wines under Christian Brothers label.

The school now consists of a three-story classroom and laboratory building and another building which serves as the brothers' residence and administration headquarters. Future expansion plans call for an auditorium-gymnasium, an additional classroom wing, and an addition to the brothers' residence.

Under construction are a track, baseball diamond and football field, and a 100-car parking lot now is ready for use.

Faculty at the school is headed by Brother Celestine, F.S.C., principal, and includes five brothers and Father Leonard Alves, chaplain, and Phillip Louis, director of physical education.

RENE TOPALIN is making his second appearance at Town Hall in the role of Larry, in the current production of "A Roomful of Roses," which will run through Dec. 1.

Rene is in the seventh grade at Burbank School and has had important roles in "All Baba" and the "Magic Ring" at the Pasadena Playhouse. At Town Hall he played the role of Mauro in "The Time of the Cuckoo."

Electric cooking is fastest!

Now!
Golden-brown pancakes in 2 minutes—when you cook electrically!

TODAY NOTHING COOKS FASTER than a modern electric range. From a cold start with a cold pan, your pancakes are golden-brown in 2 minutes. Hot soup takes 68 seconds. Bacon and eggs 3½ minutes. Fry, bake, broil or roast—electricity does it better.

THERE'S MORE: your kitchen is cooler. And cleaner. Pots and pans keep that mirror-bright shine. Kitchen walls look fresh and new much longer.

AFTER WARRANTY on your range expires, Edison services it free—charges only for parts, if needed.

IF YOU'RE STILL COOKING the old way, you haven't seen the new electric ranges at your appliance dealer's. See them—and see how easy modern cooking can be.

Rugby Spells Mayhem to Spectators

normally result in an overwhelming weariness. But the old, seasoned players have learned how to pace themselves and as in most things it's the younger breed that gets coked scurrying about without premeditation.

Hastings Ranch can lay claim to being the hub of Southern California rugby. Edward (Tad) Donald, who lives on Tropical Ave., is president of the Southern California Rugby Football Union.

This group encompasses teams from Ontario, Pomona, Pepperdine, Eagle Rock, and the Bruin Rugby Club. They play from the last part of January until June against each other, the UCLA Varsity or visiting teams. Transportation and time costs are borne by the players themselves and they pay for their own insurance.

THE UNION expects to expand this spring and is hopeful of entries from San Diego, Long Beach State, El Camino, and possibly Santa Barbara.

Donald has logged many an hour on the rugby fields, starting in the early 1940s. He has played for the University of California, University and Olympic Clubs in San Francisco, Hollywood and Eagle Rock locally. He has retired from active play now and spends his time refereeing, mostly UCLA Varsity games.

Rugby is a varsity sport at UCLA, Stanford, California, and College of the Pacific. Many UCLA football stars are avid rugby fans and last year's team included such well known names as Matheny, Moreno, Palmer, Bergdahl and Duncan.

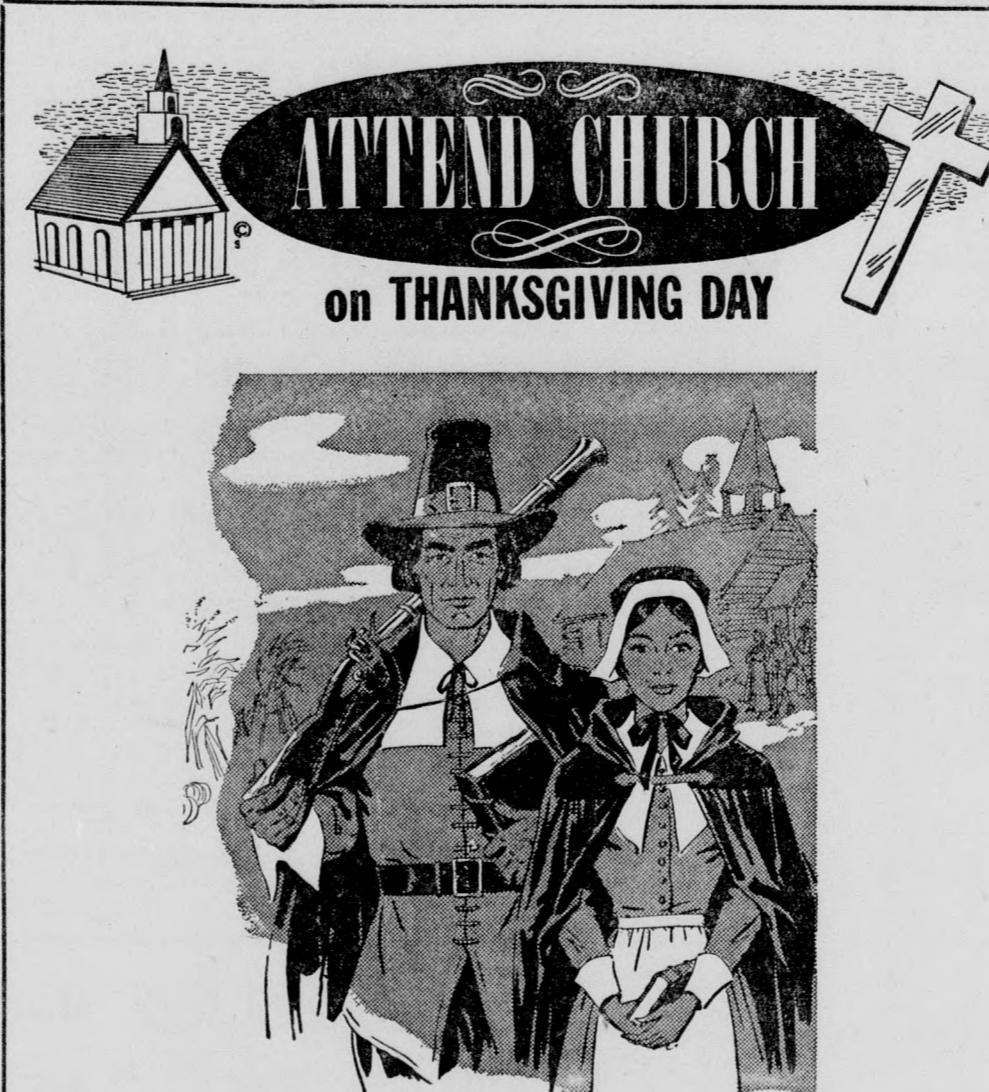

I don't know about you, but I'm already anxious for spring head-knocking time to come around.

TOYS FOR TOTS

The United States Marine Corps Reserve will conduct its annual "Toys for Tots" campaign from Dec. 1-22 this year. The purpose of the campaign is to make sure that all the less fortunate children in the Los Angeles area receive gifts of toys at Christmas.

ART SHOW

The works of Arnold Schirrin, an artist who has received world-wide recognition, will be on display at Barnsdall Arts and Crafts Center, 1645 N. Vermont Ave., Los Angeles, from Nov. 27 through Dec. 31.

THANKSGIVING IS A FAMILY AFFAIR AT CHURCH AND IN THE HOME

You are invited to attend the church of your choice on Thanksgiving Day. This is one of the most important things we have to be thankful for . . . freedom of worship. Our ancestors went through hardships for faith in their principles. This inheritance of courage, faith and power is ours to cherish and be thankful for every day of the year!
